

Hello and Welcome to the DarrasLaw newsletter.

The 4th of July is around the corner. When using fireworks, always follow the proper safety procedure, which are available through government websites or through the National Fire Protection Agency. The best option for celebrating is to attend public fireworks displays since they are conducted by trained professionals and have the least injury risk associated with them.

Accidents and property damage occur at the most inopportune times. Insurance policies are protection against damage, loss and theft. Review your coverage, make adjustments to ensure you are sufficiently covered and send a copy of your policy to a trusted relative or friend should you need to use it and cannot physically access your own copies. Preparing for disasters includes the ability to access your documents with moment's notice.

Mr. Darras,

Thank you Terrance, Vicki, Sonya, Frank and everyone else at your firm that assisted in my settlement.

I appreciate your kindness and support.

QUESTION: My insurance company continues to delay processing my paperwork. They have requested the same information from me 3 times in 10 weeks and continue to say they do not have what they need. What are they doing?

ANSWER: This is a delay and deny tactic. When the economy is slow, this tactic keeps money in the coffers of the insurance company and makes their bottom line look stronger. This strategy is effective too, because most insurance companies are banking on the fact that sick people don't fight hard and old people don't live long. View our videos here for more information on how to protect yourself if this happens to you.
