Renters Insurance

Kids are off to college and they take a lot of equipment with them, TV's, bicycles, luggage, computers, etc. At about $10K per roommate, that is a lot of property to protect. Renter's insurance is cheap and worth it to cover contents of any property in the event there is theft, fire, flood damage etc. So if you or your kids rent, get a policy to protect the contents in that structure.

QUESTION:

I was approved for Social Security Disability benefits and my disability insurance company stopped paying. Is that legal? Can they do this?

ANSWER:

Often group long-term disability policies contain "offset" provisions. That means that dollar-for-dollar they can reduce payments on long-term disability benefits for other types of income you receive while disabled. This includes Social Security. Look at your policy and determine which sources of income are considered offsets.
