Welcome to the DarrasLaw newsletter.

The last two weeks have been stormy, literally. Texas has been drenched and Pennsylvania has been hit hard. Residents of Colorado are digging their way out of a catastrophic disaster. Tornadoes have wreaked havoc too, across the Midwest.

Take time now to review your homeowners and renters insurance policies to ensure you are protected against storm and property damage as winter closes in.

Frank-
Thank you for taking the risk and my case. I am grateful for the excellent service and kindness your professional staff provided and for making this ordeal painless. Thanks for not letting me stay down because I could not have gotten up, without your help.
-Sincerely, Carol W.

Mr. Darras
It was truly good fortune to have your law firm represent me! Thank you so much for helping me recover compensation, that is rightfully mine. But most importantly, I want to extend my gratitude for your fight on my behalf and for upholding justice and remembering the "little guy." Have a happy, healthy and prosperous life!
-Bonnie and Dan

Flood Insurance

Just because you have homeowners insurance does not mean you have coverage for a flood. Flood and water damage are not the same thing either. Be sure to watch our videos and visit our DarrasLaw/MediaRoom for information that is critical when it comes to protecting your property from devastating storms.

Insurance policies are not written to be easily understood. As I always say, "The big print giveth and the small print taketh away." If you don't understand something about your insurance policy, speak up. If you cannot get a clear answer, before you sign, contact our team at DarrasLaw, we offer free policy evaluation and free consultations.

QUESTION: _____

I have missed the 180-day appeal deadline. Does this mean I can't sue the insurance company?

ANSWER: _____

Not necessarily. You should immediately consult a top attorney experienced in handling ERISA disability cases to determine whether the deadlines apply to you. We may be able to help you.
